Homeopathy.

J. C. McLEAN, Berlin,	attends patients who request Homeopathic Treatment, on call.
MISS DUNCAN,	- Lady Superintendent

Berlin - Waterloo Hospital.

The Twin City, composed of the Towns of Berlin and Waterloo, although under separate Municipal government show geographically no line to mark the division, and as to the Hospital, which was opened for patients the beginning of July, 1895, both Towns worked as a unit to furnish the means to carry out the laudable project which has just been completed.

The undertaking was much facilitated by the generous gift by Mr. Joseph E. Seagram of Waterloo, of the finely situated block of land, consisting of thirteen acres, on which the Hospital Building now stands. The intrinsic value of the property so donated, although worth several thousand dollars, was not by any means its only service in the establishment of the Hospital. The generosity of Mr. Seagram was a stimulous to the whole community, and materially lightened the labor of the canvassers.

The Ladies of the Towns organized an Auxiliary, principally composed of representatives of fourteen or more Church Congregations; the Auxiliary was excellently Officered, and its efficiency a masterpiece of Management. Another organization of Ladies formed a Committee to publish a Woman's Paper, the first of its kind in Canada. The Publishers of The Daily Record kindly surrendered their Sanctum, Plant, and Premises to their temporary successors, and The Hospital Record appeared on time, creditable to its authors, and a financial success of over $600, after paying all expenses; this being added to the Ladies' Auxiliary funds the combined result, in an incredibly short time, netted sufficient money to furnish every Ward with the latest and best make of Cots, 29 in all, a large supply of bedding and other necessities, and choice sets of oak furniture; carpet and furniture for the Lady Superintendent's room, and the Reception Room, and considerable value in other furnishing; and eight hundred dollars towards furnishing the Operating Room; they also hope to have the elevator put in at an early date.

The Trustees, before commencing to build, visited a number of the best Hospitals in Ontario, and carefully noted such improvements as funds at their disposal would permit them to make, and the result appears to be eminently satisfactory. The building is of red brick, its outline and style quite modern and pleasing, while its beautiful site favorably heightens its architectural effect.

The Hospital site could not be more conveniently situated for its purpose, being near the Westerly limit of the Corporation of Berlin, and almost adjoining the Easterly limit of Waterloo, with a frontage of about thirteen chains on King Street; the Electric Cars pass every twenty minutes each way; the building stands on a nice elevation, nearly four hundred feet back from the street, thereby securing complete quiet so necessary for the comfort of patients.
